Augustin TARIT

Computer Science Student

Job Objective

I am currently a second-year student in a Bachelor of Technology in Computer Science, where I am developing strong skills in programming, software development, and system administration.

My main strengths are my adaptability, problem-solving abilities, and my capacity to work both independently and as part of a team.

I am seeking an internship as a software developer, in order to apply the knowledge I have acquired during my studies in a professional environment.

This opportunity would allow me to gain valuable experience, contribute effectively to projects, and strengthen my expertise in development while preparing for future professional challenges.
